Volunteer Ministry Qualifications

Commitment to Christ

Spiritual development is at the core of the philosophy of Olympia Union Gospel Mission, therefore a volunteer must have a personal, growing relationship with Jesus Christ.

Commitment to the Local Church

A volunteer must be a part of a body of believers that can provide support and encouragement, with accountability to and a positive reference from that church's pastor. Involvement with Olympia Union Gospel Mission's volunteer network may provide spiritual growth and fellowship, but in no way should participation with OUGM be seen as a substitute for commitment to a local church.

Commitment to Olympia Union Gospel Mission

A volunteer must agree to the Mission Statement, Statement of Faith and Values Statement.

Commitment to Work with Others from Different Christian Traditions

Olympia Union Gospel Mission draws its support from people in many different churches, therefore a volunteer must be able to work with Christians from different denominations.

Commitment to a Balanced Christian Lifestyle

A volunteer must be committed to a balanced Christian lifestyle which includes: maturity, emotional stability, healthy interpersonal relationships, financial responsibility, and a stable living situation. Those involved in personal ministry with guests and clients must submit to a State Patrol background check.

Commitment to Teamwork

A volunteer must work to build and contribute to teamwork in the unity of Christ, with the goal of making the whole organization successful. The volunteer must have a positive, problem-solving and cooperative attitude.

Commitment to Cooperate with OUGM Supervision

A volunteer must be willing to cooperate with the direct supervisor in any assigned ministry area.

Commitment to Training & Special Qualifications

A volunteer must meet any specialized qualifications particular to a specific ministry position, in addition to attending required introductory volunteer training.
